

Early treatment for Bob's testicular cancer not only saved his life, it created a new one.

Joshua Hammer was born after Bob Hammer successfully completed 26 rounds of chemotherapy. Amazingly, Bob was scheduled for surgery that would have prevented him from having children again...but at the last moment a second opinion convinced him he was cured.

The result was the birth of Joshua, now 4 years old.

To repay his good fortune, Bob founded Have a Ball Testicular Cancer Foundation to help a host of other cancer organizations. You can learn more about Bob's foundation at www.haveaballgolf.com. And you can help yourself by talking with your doctor about testicular cancer, the most common cancer for men 15-35. Please visit our website at www.sequoiahospital.org to learn more about early detection and how you can check yourself for early signs of this disease.
